he asked, "Well, you don't seem to believe what I said just now? However, you will come to know of it by and by/' Strange to say, that just a day or two later as I was sitting in my cell one night, I noticed suddenly a very peculiar kind of a meteor much bigger and brighter than those we generally see in the night, shoot past my cell at lightning speed, straight as an arrow, from north to south, just grazing the earth*s atmosphere at a level not higher than that of a tree-top, as it seemed.

Our visitor seemed rather dissatisfied with the conversation he had with me so long and said, I can't derive much satisfaction from this talk with you, because you are neither my equal in age nor in status; 1 shall, however, send to you one of your equals some day as my substi-tute. Then he said, I shall take some one, but not you. You are an educated man and I could talk to you, but it must be some one else/* So ended our conversation for the day and I came away to our enclosure with the book that I had selected to read. It seems worth of mention here that the night the meteor shot past my cell, a patient died, in the hospital, very suddenly and unexpectedly.
